FLINT CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL

FLINT, MICHIGAN

FOREWORD

WITH music as its theme the 1931 Prospectus would bring ever anew to you the memories of happy Central days, as, to the music of its rustling pages, it conjures up again the rhythm, and the spirited tempo of our ever throbbing, ever living Alma Mater.

CONTENTS

FIRST we present the many beauties of our ample CAMPUS. And after perusing its pages you will enjoy interviewing our FACULTY who make our CLASSES and ACTIVITIES so interesting. Our FEATURES and HUMOR are disclosed with a clear conscience, and the ADS speak for themselves.

DEDICATION

TO THE spirit of music which so pervades our lives and which is exemplified for us by the band, the orchestra, and the a cappella choir, we dedicate this 1931 Prospectus.

John Philip Sousa

1451 Broadway
New York City

February 25, 1930

It is with a distinct feeling of pleasure that I recall my many pleasant visits to Flint, both with my own band on concert tour and as a judge in the recent band contest. I have had the pleasure of conducting your Central high school band on many occasions during my concerts at Flint, and I can with all sincerity say that you have one of the finest bands I have ever heard in the field of amateur music. In an industrial city like yours it is remarkable that such a fine organization exists and is so appreciated by the public.

At no time in the history of our land has music received more recognition than is now given it. The steady increase in the number of symphonic bodies, the more complete instrumentation of our bands, and the greater ability of our musicians all tend to show that music in the United States is on a healthy and progressive basis.

John Philip Sousa

The Book

LIFE'S Theme is Music. When Tomorrow, the pages of this volume are turned may they echo the Life of Yesterday—which is Central Today. Central with its Ideals, Achievements, Laughter, Worries, Hopes all fused into a triumphant Symphony—life. Life's Theme is Music—so the Book.

Music is the Servant and the Master; the Servant of those dead and the Master of those living. The Prospectus would Serve those who are to be remembered and Compel the interest of those who read. It would be the microphone of echoing Halls, crowded Stands, a trickling Brook, busy Classrooms, majestic Towers.

For the joy of playing—our Band and Orchestra. For the joy of singing—our A Cappella Choir. For the joy of living—all of Us. On the alternately profound and lilting Strains of a Beethoven Overture we were lifted to national Prominence; and with the Songs and Choruses of all Nations—all Time—We sang a universal Song which the World heard and commended.

From the first Assembly with its fanfare of Bugles and roll of Drums, inciting and instilling the Spirit which is Central's, to that Baccalaureate Sunday Morning with its somber gray-clad Seniors marching to the solemn strains of the organ, runs a Symphony of many Moods—the Symphony that this Prospectus has taken for its Theme.

THE CAMPUS

A windowed castle straight and tall
Nestling midst a woodland glade;
Shadows clinging to the wall,
Ripple in the sun's cascade.

A crowning knoll beneath the trees,
Where youthful couples often stray
To idly chatter as they dream,
And watch the vanishing of day.

The rugged trunks and rustling leaves,
Of oak trees towering in the sky,
Cast mottled patterns down below,
As fluffy clouds go sailing by.

With flowering walls on either side
And sheltering treetops overhead.
The tiny brooklet rambles on—

Grassy slopes and sandy beaches,
Sunny water gurgling near,
None to bother—it's no wonder
That these ducks all quack with cheer.

A velvet sheen of verdant grass,
Old ivy clustered to the wall;
A rustic scene of shaded walks
Where nature's beauty governs all.

An old chateau of wondrous grace,
With turrets rising o'er the trees;
The birds make sweet the air with song
And lilac's breath perfumes the breeze.

The sun sinks slowly—all is quiet,
In the East the shadows creep,
And in a blaze of golden glory
Central's trees and turrets sleep.

L. H. LAMB
Superintendent of Schools

CIVILIZATIONS have been measured by their contributions in the field of music. Since the beginning of time it has been a means of universal education and expression and a measure of true culture. Central High School has taken an advanced and envious position in recent years through the promotion of music appreciation. Theirs has been a distinct and praiseworthy contribution to education, not only in vocal, but in instrumental music. There can be no doubt that Central High School has been an outstanding leader in this field of education.

PROSPECTUS

A SCHOOL is a thing of action and of ideals. Neither without the other is sufficient. It is the purpose of the Prospectus to record permanently our ideals as expressed through our most worth-while activities.

With this thought in mind, no theme could be more appropriate than music. Ideals, emotions, imagination, intelligence, expression —all are essential to the type of music which we have come to identify with Central High School.

These qualities typified by music, are also essential to every phase of the life of our school. They lie back of every organization and every accomplishment recorded in this book.

The Prospectus is serving a real purpose in giving us a permanent record of those things which have helped to make our high school days a genuine value to us, and it has made a happy choice in using music to exemplify them.

PROSPECTUS

THE love of beauty in some form is an essential part of everyone's life. The so-called hard headed business has been forced to recognize it even as a commercial asset. No matter how well an automobile is built, nor how well it performs, it will not sell if it does not appeal to the eye as beautiful. The architecture of a house must reflect beauty or even the sentimentless purchaser is not interested. With an eye-minded and eye-trained people beauty as revealed in tone is slower in being recognized and appreciated. However, the educator is beginning to realize that to be regarded as educated one must have at least a speaking knowledge of Beethoven as well as Shakespeare.

In Flint Central, over a period of several years, the musical interest and standards have contributed to the real spiritual life and have been recognized internationally in the A Cappella Choir, nationally in the band and orchestra and its soloists.

That the Prospectus is to be dedicated to Music is a worthy tribute to these unusual accomplishments. Let us hope that Music may keep pace with her sister sciences and her sister languages in promoting a broader culture and a true education.

WILLIAM WELLINGTON NORTON
Director of the Community Music Association

IT IS, indeed, a source of deepest gratification to us as music teachers of Central high school, that the 1931 staff of the Prospectus has seen fit to take music as its theme, and to honor the music groups by dedicating this singularly impressive annual to the band, choir and orchestra.

It would not be surprising if this were an unique instance among high school annuals of America. It impresses one as but a clearer view of "the writing on the wall." The nineteenth century saw the development of the material—the scientific; the twentieth has already realized an emphasis on the cultural, the beautiful, nobility of thought and sentiment—in short, the spiritual side of life.

Flint Central's early interest in the fine arts has been tremendously prophetic of this modern cultural renaissance. That the students themselves have chosen to specifically recognize the contribution of one phase of this side of their student life, and to honor it in this very significant way, seems a strong evidence that this new-born age is with us in full force.

As a music teacher I am made doubly glad and humbly grateful to have been a part of it.

NOW serving as assistant principal, Miss Riddell in the past eight years has been Dean of Girls and Dean of Boys in Flint Central. With the exception of her summer school training at Columbia, Miss Riddell has obtained her schooling in Omaha, Nebraska, at the high school and Omaha University. During her university years she was made a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma, a national honorary society.

Opening her teaching career at Manchester, Iowa, she soon became principal of the high school. From there she went to Rockford, Illinois, where she taught Latin two years before coming to the Flint school system.

"The fineness of Central high school will always depend upon the extent to which each of us, pupil and teacher alike, gives of his best to the school.

"The 1931 Prospectus is dedicated to the Spirit of Music which has come to mean much to this school. If it were not for the tireless efforts of the many young men and young women who have been members of the musical organizations, Central high school would lack much of the prestige it now enjoys.

"They have set an example which I hope we may all strive to follow.

"My hope for all of the students of the school is that they may carry the Spirit of Music into life with them."

(signed) FLORENCE E. RIDDELL

MISS Pinel came to Flint Central in 1924 as Latin and activity teacher from Howell, Michigan, where she had taught Latin and French and coached the girls' athletic teams. After two years she was advanced to the post of Dean of Girls, the position which has enabled her to know and befriend such a great number of Central's girls.

High school and college work was taken at the high school and college at Kalamazoo, Michigan. While at the University, Miss Pinel was active in many clubs and musical organizations, fitting her uniquely to fairly consider the problems of girls and their interests at Central.

"As the baton descends on the closing strains of the glorious symphony that for three years has been the class of nineteen hundred and thirty-one, we of Central high will always remember with pride that in the pulsing of its mighty rhythm we have felt the fine loyalty of true sportsmanship, the watchful spirit of cooperation and the sympathy of understanding fellowship."

"THE SECOND SYMPHONY"

Johannes Brahms

"AND in the future—? Who knows what may lie ahead in the tomorrow that today is veiled in clouds?" Brahms in his magnificent "Second Symphony" has set in living chords the hopes, the aspirations, and the fears of one who turns stalwartly from refuge, his face to the cutting gale, and by the force within himself achieves a triumph all his own."

CARPENTER DECKER TRACY MARKEN

THE lithe hands of the organist rush madly over the yellowed and time-worn keys as the final crescendo rumbles forth in majestic tones from the mighty diapasons and one by one the stops are released for the softened chord of reverie at the close of the great symphony.

Yet high school life for the class of 1931 has been like some symphony of a new and unknown master. Gathering in experience and confidence the trembling tremolo of the opening notes is replaced by a firm motif in the middle register as the new class in its first year elects Lewis Kearns class president, Donald Decker, vice-president, Mary Tracy, secretary, and Irving Benison, treasurer. The theme assumes a solo triumphant air when a sophomore, Doris Bahr, succeeds in capturing the highly desired popularity contest. In a mighty sweeping climax of song like purity the music rises as the sophomores win high class sing awards.

Then in the junior year a confident and smoothly flowing air is heard as the election of Max Carpenter as class president, George Cranston as vice-president, Maxine Martin, secretary and again Irving Benison, treasurer, foreshadow a new year of peaceful reign in competition for supremacy. A dramatic height is reached in the symphony with the junior play, "Little Old New York", Frances Higgins, Barbara Harris, Mahlon Sharp and Donald Decker starring. Then pausing in a majestic awful mood while the lighted torch of seniority is passed to Carpenter, the wild refrain of triumph of the first movement is heard again as triumphs in the class sing repeat the former victory.

Now in the last and supremely beautiful phrase an exotic touch of the dramatic is incorporated with a gay and dashing crescendo as the memories of the senior play, the opera, the Senior-Junior party, the dinner dance, the class sing, the games, the graduation and the end whirl madly by in confusing array until the music softens, the rich tones of intangible beauty lower and the senior class has passed to another its heritage of Central life. The organist is done, the echoes die, the music book is turned to a newer and a merrier tune as memories slink past with the dying reverberations.

Competitive Scholastic Awards

IN PAST years Flint Central has won an enviable reputation in the State Scholastic Contest, sponsored by Central State Teachers' College and held at Mount Pleasant. In 1929, following a precedent set in four years of previous competition with the best students of the state, Central took first honors by an overwhelming majority. Examinations are given at this contest where the best students from all Michigan schools participate. The graduating seniors who have represented Central and their awards are given below.

FIRST AWARD IN STATEWIDE COMPETITION

HENRIETTA AVERY ..... Plane Geometry, 1929
CHARLES B. BROWNSON ..... Biology, 1929

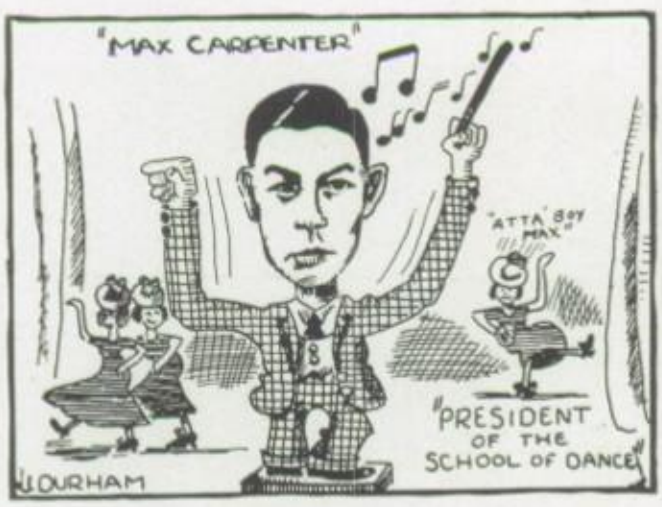
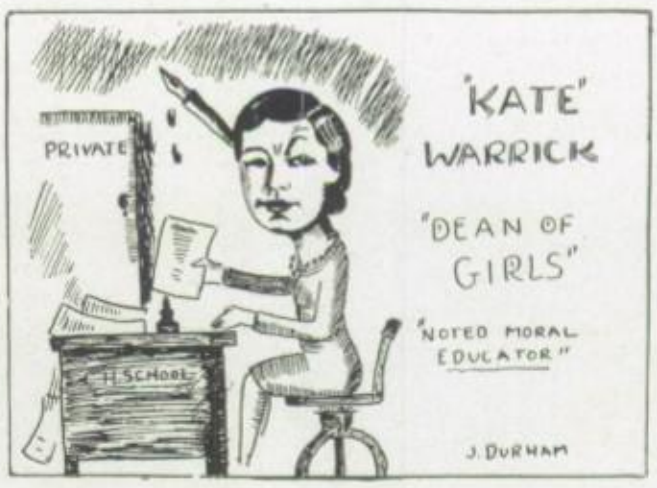
FLOYD GIBBONS JR.

HELLO everybody, we've got a lot of territory to cover tonight in our big headline hunt for news of the celebrities, yes sir—we've got a hectic race on tonight; and you know there's a mighty queer coincidence in our little yarn tonight—every single news item concerns some Flint Central alumni—believe it or not, as my old friend Ripley says, those boys and girls have sure scattered over this old globe.



Our first dispatch comes from Paris announcing an old favorite of ours as the new director of Folies Bergere, none other than "Maxie" Carpenter. Since Edward Young has taken over the management of these theatrical enterprises and found so many new dancing stars, including Nancy Scot, Marguerite Crooks, Berenice Wethereld and those popular blues singers, Edythe Millhouse and Paul Schagane, the employment of this wizard of the dance was the only move left to make the "theatre truly enjoyable," as Jess Hunter, big newspaper man puts it.

Johnnie Hufton, prominent architect, is now engaged to construct the new Benison building. Mr. Irving Benison, advertising magnate, is now entering the clothing business. Mr. Hufton may be remembered for his work in the construction of the famous "Cranston Gym" and the "Vincent Stadium," two memorial structures dedicated by the University of Michigan to these two outstanding mentors of present day sports.



Miss Kathryn Warrick has just received notification of her appointment as dean of girls at Flint Central high school. Her removal as matron of the Grand Blanc orphan asylum was a cause of a strike among the inmates yesterday. James MacNaughton, janitor, succeeded in restoring order by offers of ice cream from the Brady Bros. Ice Cream factory.

James L. Duke is featured in the next item as the efficiency engineer in the Peerless Pin Company. Duke proposes a merger with the Cossman Comic Strip company furnishing points for the latter's jokes. Coleman Ross is now heading the Trolley Track Co. of America making tracks for trackless trollies and electric fans for airplanes.

PROSPECTUS

Now our little yarn takes us to Chicago, where Mayor James Parker announces he will rid the city of all gangs in two years with Kenneth Morton as Chief of Police. It is also in this leaden city that the record price for a picture was obtained. "Sarah," by Frederick Pond, a bond salesman-artist, was purchased for $20,000 from the art salon of Miss Bethany Vincent.

Mr. Raymond Biggar, famous research physicist—and here's a real scientist for you boys and girls—is now working out the formulae for the weight of the atom and has hopes of producing tremendous power by its disintegration. Theodore Hodgins, a critic of the Biggar theory, believes the energy created will blow Biggar from the face of the earth—but expresses relief at this hope.

personal advice to the lovelorn. Gregory Kileen was today announced by the Mick Tooth Brush Co. as their foreign representative covering Africa, New Zealand and points east.

A new musical comedy sensation appeared this week in the form of Francis Higgins, diminutive musical comedy star, who caused such a riot at the Smith theatre last week. Miss Doris Bahr is returning to Broadway after touring the country in her role as "Peter Pan." Miss Frances Manwaring and Mlle. Arlene Coughtry are designing the gowns for the production of Wilson Smith's sensational play to open here in New York, next week.

Frank Marken, former American league star and world traveller, is lecturing in the Bristol auditorium. A new "Miss America" was crowned today at Atlantic City when Miss Esther MacLean took the national honors.

Mr. Wesley Pierce is protecting the lives and comfort of hundreds of happy kiddies by serving as municipal chute-the-chute tester. His tireless efforts to incerease the comfort of our dear children has been appreciated by the president of the humane society, Opal MacCredie, who presented him with the Ohmer trophy. Mary Tracy, former popularity contest winner, is this week appearing in person at the office of the daily Courier, giving her

The latest comedy team to ascend to stardom is that of Virginia Jennings and Donald Decker. Art settings and costuming which lend a delicate touch of humor to their mirthful productions are by Sylvia Brown.

Well—I'm afraid that's all of the newsy headline hunting we can do today—but remember brother and sister; more yarns tomorrow!

Senior Class Will

WE, the senior class of Flint Central high school, in the County of Genesee and the Commonwealth of Michigan being of sound and disposing mind and memory do hereby make this our last will and testament, hereby revoking all wills previously made by our class heretofore, and likewise cancelling all existing codicils or testamentary dispositions of real or personal property.

ARTICLES:

I. All mortgages held by members of the senior class on property, real or personal, in the form of gum under desks 19, 32, 94, 103, 118, 127, 134, 147 or 156 are herewith bequeathed by the aforesaid legal possessors (Sec. 1, Article 15, page 3492, Vol. 2 Compiled Laws of Michigan) to one Mr. William Chappell in the belief that if the manufacturers' claims are true it will soon regain "the flavor" it lost during a semester in Miss Lillian Gold's English VI class.

II. Mr. Lewis Kearns herewith does will all conflicts caused by the presidency of the student union and all various and virtuous speeches in a high twanging voice, to one underclassmen, Mr. William Knapp on the one restricting clause that the party of the second part must learn to smile ingratiatingly over nothing, to please nobodies, speak fluently on nothing, wave his hair, and digest the first three chapters of Einstein's theory sufficiently to bore all with his revealed wisdom.

III. Mr. Donald W. Decker humbly bequeaths to Mr. Howard Capeling the inimitable style of dancing as perfected by the party of the first part in which the unwilling female is grasped tenderly about the middle portion of the anatomy, a sick puppy dog expression assumed on the face of the male and the aforementioned female escorted in such a manner as to impress all remaining spectators with the horror of the torture.

IV. Miss Catherine Vine herewith does pass on to Miss Margaret Hurd one dozen boys of various ages, sizes and shapes. A book of instructions is included with each model for future reference. Since the care of these males will occupy so much time, a pony of the Spanish IV book is enclosed to facilitate hurried study.

V. Mr. Matthew Parker being of good Scotch blood (denials to the contrary) and following the precedents set by his race leaves nothing.

VI. Mr. Irving G. Benison bequeaths to Miss Lillian Vinacow the power to sarcastically create insipid jokes in a sly manner amidst many guffaws of personal merriment with the restricting clause that Miss Vinacow, the party of the second part, create jokes which lack in humor, wit and point, bore the audience to tears and concern Benison's beloved brown and white puppy, Kathrine.

VII. Mr. George Cranston leaves to Mr. Maurice Cossman his secrets in winning popularity contests. Said assets include seven (7) free, all-day lollipops, thirty-four (34) puncture proof balloons and eight (8) copies of the book "Why I Am Popular." Mr. Cranston wishes Mr. Cossman to be informed at the reading of the will that the motive is sympathy.

VIII. Mr. Jack Whitehouse wishes to bequeath to Robert McVannel one case of "Athlete's Foot" as the only physical attribute Mr. McVannel will ever attain.

IX. We hereby appoint Miss Grace Pinel and Miss Florence E. Riddell as joint executrix of this will—having been justly tempted to execute us in the past we now give them opportunity—these the executrix having all power to settle any miscellaneous estates or obligations not considered in this will. All funds in excess of the funds named above—the likelihood being remote after a dinner dance—are to be devoted by these appointed executrix as funds to support the "Crystal Frisbie Home For Wayward Cats."

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and seal this 5th day of June in the Year of Our Lord nineteen hundred and thirty-one.

Commencement

OPENING the final week of senior activities, the senior dinner dance was held June 5 at the Masonic Temple. After the banquet of witty toasts and spirited music the class solemnized Baccalaureate Sunday at the First Baptist church with Rev. James McGee delivering the address.

Class Night exercises were held on the knoll in the Oak Grove where five hundred robed seniors heard the addresses of the salutatorians and the valedictorian. Red lanterns bobbing merrily as the class mounted the bleachers made the occasion a very picturesque and strikingly beautiful scene.

Joint commencement exercises were held in the auditorium of the I. M. A. with Supt. of Schools L. H. Lamb presiding. The program was opened with a processional and an invocation by Rev. Ralph Kearns. Special musical offerings were made by school organizations from each school. The commencement address was delivered by G. W. Dyer, Vanderbilt College, Nashville, Tennessee, after which the presentation of the graduating classes was made. Diplomas were then conferred by a member of the school board.

"THE GRENADIERS"

Robert Schumann

EVER striving, the problems of the immediate future before them, the weary and disillusioned grenadiers wend their way homeward from the wars in quest of new fields of endeavor. It is almost as if Schumann had intentionally portrayed a junior class, the triumphs of a sophomore behind, their dreams of glory in their senior year ahead, as they struggle midway upon the trackless wastes.

Junior Class

HATS off, ye classmen! The far-famed Junior band, five hundred strong, is marching right across this page of the Prospectus. See their brilliant colors, green and gold, gleaming.

Besides a most enviable history, they, the juniors, boast absolutely the most likeable, absolutely the most capable group of officers available anywhere.

Hail, the handsome president, now the stately drum major of our junior band, Mr. William Knapp (imagine Bill in one of those hats). The high-stepping lady right next to Bill is Marge (Miss Margaret) Moffett, who helps Bill drum-major (and other things too).

Miss Betty Heald, treasurer de luxe, next struts in view. Who shall say that she is not a first rate counter of the tinkling shekels.

And of course in the throng, pencil and notebook accompanying, is Maurice B. Cossman, Flint, or the journalistic prodigy. He decided that besides editing, vice-presidenting is his forte and, accordingly, came and conquered that little task.

There they go! Watch them! Hear them continue making that history as they march along in tuneful harmony.

"MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM"

Felix Bartholdy Mendelssohn

TRANSCRIBING in exquisite melody the whimsical vagaries of Shakespeare, Mendelssohn, at seventeen, created in this selection a tone poem of delightful purity the sparkling humor of which reflects the clever witticisms of the play. The "Nick Bottom" scene is the most entrancing of all the music to this play in its carefree portrayal of the supreme egoist who, disguised as an ass, dared to love the queen, Titania.

Class of '33

BLACKINGTON WOLCOTT GREEN WHITEHEAD

THAT history repeats itself is an axiom as old as the story of the world. But it is true that there is an exception to every rule, and the exception in this adage is found in the class of '33. For in it there are no repetitions, and there will not be, of the happenings that befell previous classes. Certain external resemblances may be seen, it is true, but in reality they do not exist.

It has not gone the way blazed by other classes for we have begun by making our own way, building anew on previous foundations.

Organization of the class this year took definite form with the election to office of James Blackington, Mary Jane Wolcott, Mary Louise Green and Merle Whitehead. Under the leadership of these officers the class has taken an active part in school affairs. It has among its other achievements contributed greatly to the success of the intramural sports program. In all activities, football and basketball games, parties and entertainments, our enthusiasm has made up for whatever we may lack in experience. That we have borne our responsibility worthily is shown by the fact that our school has progressed rapidly and exceptionally in the fields of scholarship, athletics and character, but only when we enable our school as a whole to progress may we say that we ourselves have progressed.

"THE FIRE BIRD"

(L'Oiseau de Feu)— Igor Stravinsky

A SCINTILLATING animal of fatal beauty, part bird and part woman, who holds a sinister power but gives a life of luxury and love to one daring enough a secure a feather from its wing, forms the plot of this sensationally modern ballet, termed "L' Enfant Terrible," the composer has in one mighty gesture overthrown the restraint of refined music of the heart to substitute a brutally frank style of orchestration.

The Student Council

THE Student Council is the governing body of the Student Union, and as such promotes and controls all school activities. It has existed in its present form for the last six years. The work of the Council is largely done through four commissions: Finance, Activity, Social, and General Welfare.

In the year 1930-31 the Council purchased and installed pictures for the halls in the school, financed the handbook, sponsored trips for musical organizations, and directed social activities and assemblies. Six new amendments were added to the constitution to remedy and explain the functions of the council.

The officers of the Council are elected by the school at large, and as the school's governing body it is the most important single organization in the school. It exists as the only organization where faculty and student meet for a mutual benefit.

The Arrow Head

COSSMAN
Editor

BENISON
Business Manager

Gathering and disseminating "all the news" for 2400 busy Central students is the task that faces the Arrow Head staff every week in the school year.

In December ten members of the staff together with five Prospectus writers attended the National Convention in Cleveland where they won the cup for the largest delegation.

Again this year the newspaper was given a first class honor rating by the National Scholastic Press Association and adjudged one of the ten best high school papers in the United States by Sigma Delta Chi, honorary journalism fraternity.

The Prospectus

BROWNSON
Editor

DUKE
Managing Editor

It is seemingly futile to tell of the Prospectus within its own pages for these pages speak more effectively for themselves. The work of the Prospectus is to present in an accurate and permanent form the history of a year of school life—to preserve fleeting memories for the years to come. In addition it offers an outlet for student artistic and literary work in its capacity as an anthology of student creations.

Receiving the only class A rating in Michigan in national competition last year, this Prospectus stands among the foremost high school year books of the country as a student edited book of exceptional merit.

Quill and Scroll

THE Central high school chapter of Quill and Scroll, national journalistic honorary society, founded in 1927 is the oldest in Michigan—and this year can justifiably claim to be one of the most active in the states. Advisers throughout the state commended the society on the splendid convention for the Journalists of Southeastern Michigan which it sponsored.

The organization's purpose is to encourage student participation in scholastic publications work and to reward with membership those journalists who do outstanding work on the Flint Arrow Head and the Prospectus.

Delta Epsilon Alpha

THE Flint Chapter of Delta Epsilon Alpha was organized October 27, 1927, in Central high school with Miss Adeline Pierce as sponsor. The Delta Epsilon Alpha is a National Honorary Public Speaking Society with its headquarters in Fronsek, Kansas. It is composed of people who are interested in this work and have been outstanding in it in some way. During the past year the organization sponsored an all-school assembly to increase student interest in speech work and presented a program at one of the Parent-Teachers' meetings. The purpose of the society is to promote speech work in all its forms: debating, oratory, declamation and dramatics.

Commanderins

ONE of the high spots of the year was the organization of the Commanderins Club, an association of the highest ranking girl leaders of Central. Its purpose is to discuss the problems and regulations of the school with the administration.

The non-officer system is employed. The officers of each class, the highest ranking journalists on the publications, and the presidents of the two girls' clubs automatically become members.

Belle Masque Club

THE Belle Masque Dramatics Club was organized to bring those most interested in dramatics closer together. The club's motto, "To promote better drama in the home and community," has been well carried out during the past year.

One of the features of the year's program was the presentation of the annual three-act play before the Parent-Teachers Association. A trip to Detroit to attend a play is always looked forward to enthusiastically.

To become a member one must have a "B" average and at least one year of dramatics, in which the student has shown unusual interest and talent.

Social Science Club

THE purpose of the Honorary Social Science Club is to stimulate a greater interest in history and in social problems.

The country studied this year was South America. The programs included such subjects as the settlement of South America by Europeans, the native population, physical features, industries, and the political history of the various republics. Perhaps the most interesting programs were those which dealt with the individuals whose lives were associated with early and modern history.

Thalian Literary Society

THIS Club has always stood for the high ideals of scholarship and character. The purpose has been to create an interest in literary work and to encourage the use of better English in everyday life. Membership is obtained by recommendation of the Dean of Girls and the English teachers. Applicants must have an all "A" record in English and high scholarship in other studies.

Each year the senior girls in the club write a serial. The traditional functions which close the year are the "May Breakfast" and the "Open Door Meeting."

The Biology Club

THE Honorary Biology Club was first founded in the fall of 1926, through the efforts of Mr. Voorhorst, for the purpose of studying and discussing subjects pertaining to biology.

At the meetings illustrated talks were given by people who have made biology their hobby. Several studies of different phases of biology have been made in the form of field trips to observe plants and animals, and excursions to local industries. Birds at the campus station across Gilke Creek were fed during the winter. To bring the year to a close the club enjoyed an all-day trip to Belle Isle and the Zoo at Detroit.

The Hi-Y Club

THE Central Hi-Y is composed of boys whose purpose is to create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character. The ideals of this club are clean living, clean speech, and clean scholarship.

A few of the many activities sponsored by the Hi-Y during '30-31 were a faculty-get-together, Four C's campaign, Christmas cheer for the poor, and college interviews for the graduating seniors.

Fine Arts

"PELLEAS AND MELISANDE"

Claude Achille Debussy

WITH delicate and subtle assault upon the senses, almost like the fine arts themselves, this imaginative, mystic interpretation of Maeterlinck's play gave to the world a delicious breath of freshness in its dashingly different modernity. Spending the first ten years of this century exclusively upon this work, Debussy established a new harmonic style which combined a simple sincerity of his own with the wistful charm of Mozart.

THE outstanding achievement of the Red-Black Band for the year of 1930 was winning fourth place in the National High School Band Contest held here May 22-25. There was a difference of only one point between first and fourth place. This peppy accomplished organization was present at every home and out of town football game accompanied by its "Boom-a-Licka!" The usual little pep band added entertainment at the basketball games. The band will enter the state contest at Lansing this year, where it hopes to win first place and maintain its record three successive state championships.

WINNING second place in national competition at Cleveland, May 16, the 1931 Central orchestra achieved the highest place in a country-wide contest ever gained by a Flint school. Previous to this triumph the orchestra was adjudged state champion in competition at Lansing.

A splendid concert was presented in conjunction with Mrs. Lucille Jolly, local pianist, the latter part of April. In addition the symphony augmented many school presentations with its excellent accompaniment, including "The Gondoliers," "Tiger House," and the Kaleidoscope.

A Cappella Choir

PRAISED by the greatest critics of choral music in America and the continent alike, the Central a cappella choir represents the height of choral achievement in the American high school. Percy Scholes, English critic and member of the English Musical Competition Board, Vladimir Bakalleinakoff and Fritz Reiner of the Cincinnati Symphony orchestra, Franklin Dunham, president of the National Broadcasting company and Martin Hansen, international concert manager, have recommended that the choir accept the invitation of the International Supervisors Association and tour Europe, if possible, as an American ambassador of school music. Eleven choir members were granted membership in the National High School Chorus at its session February 20-25.

"The Gondoliers"

The Opera

PRESENTED with a brilliance and color unusual in a school production, "The Gondoliers" was this year's operatic offering of the fine arts department. The whimsical comedy of Gilbert and Sullivan, produced under the direction of J. Monroe Langlo, assisted by Mrs. Maude Stewart Beagle, featured colorful costuming, excellent acting and a well drilled chorus. Ballet presentations in the form of a native dance festival were unusually well done.

ORGANIZING as a new music group for the promotion of popular and old time quartet music resulted in the now popular "Stage Hands' Quartet" under the supervision of Mr. Percy Davidson. The first appearance in the Kaleidoscope to fill a vacant spot with a novelty quartet act, introduced in the regular routine of stage setting, proved a very popular hit. The melodious voices blended so musically in the songs of long ago, combined with the extempore appearance made the continuance of this quartet a definite thing. Since their first performance, appearances have been made before various school audiences with similar success.

"Tiger House"

Senior Play

PRESENTING, for the first time in Central history, a real mystery play replete with corpses and secret panels, the class of 1931 scored a tremendous hit with the play "Tiger House" by Robert St. Clair. Directed by Mrs. Helen Hardy Brown, the production was presented to local audiences May 21 and 22. A precedent was set by the different method used in casting the play with a single group, of leads and understudies. Unusual stage effects and a perfect mechanical performance backstage proved that high school students are capable of producing even so complicated a play as the "spook thriller."

Kaleidoscope

MC GEE

THREE hundred students, representing every activity in the school, combined interests to produce the most brilliant and sensational Kaleidoscope in the history of Central. With Thomas McGee as master of ceremonies and Maude Stewart Beagle directing, the gigantic production proved a financial as well as an artistic success. Featured for the first time, a full size movie of exceptional calibre for an amateur attempt portrayed student life in Central with intimate glimpses into the real lives of students. Mr. Carroll Clark acted as business manager of the movie, Charles Brownson, director. Combining efficiency with awe-inspiring beauty, the show was a literal "hit."

Debate

THE Central high school debate trio was barred from the state elimination series by a loss to Owosso high. The question debated this year was, Resolved: "That national chain grocery stores operating in the state of Michigan are detrimental to the people of the state." The Royal Oak and Ferndale debates were won by unanimous decisions while the debaters dropped two to Saginaw Eastern and Owosso. Northern took the city title in the championship debate January 21.

The Mott Class Sing

"In reverence our voices raise
To Alma Mater's praise."

POMP and regal grandeur marked the crowning of the fairest senior maid as Queen of the May at the annual Mott Class Sing. Beautifully gowned, the majestic queen, her king and her royal attendants marched down the rose strewn path to receive homage from two thousand willing subjects as the annual competition for the song and yell prizes was staged May 18. Rivaling a medieval court for color and beauty the emblazoned stands were a field of color as a background for her majesty. The royal herald, the tiny train bearers, the straight, slender youths in their conventional flannels and their maids of the court, clad in shimmering pastel and sheerest gossamer formed a distinguished escort of the pride of Flint Central.

This year honors in the Mott Class Sing were awarded to the seniors, and second place to the sophomores. The first award for the yell went to the sophomores and the second to the juniors.

Weeks of irksome preparation were culminated in this gala event as the red and white of the seniors, the green and gold of the juniors and the black and white of the sophomores marched to the bleachers to contend for the awards in the class song, the original Alma Mater, the official Alma Mater and the class yell. The awards for the contest are given by the student council and Mr. C. S. Mott, in the interests of promoting a finer school feeling and producing new and original school music.

"1812 SYMPHONY"

Peter Ilyitch Tchaikovsky

PHYSICAL vitality, the mad onrush of fury-stricken beings, the intensity of the frenzied battle, and the insane ecstasy of victory are sketched in this mighty, moving, living, composition of the eccentric Russian, Tchaikovsky. Securing his inspiration for this dynamic symphony from the world-wide upheaval and chaos following the French Revolution, he constructed a tremendous tone picture of the war ending in his famous picturization of the horribly majestic exultation at the victory.

Indian Grid Leaders

Captain RAY VINCENT

TWO new coaches, F. M. Smith and Nap La Voie, were added to the Central staff, last season.

La Voie was line coach in football, assistant basketball coach and wrestling mentor. Smith handled the Michigan-Ohio reserve squads in football, and in indoor track.

La Voie graduated from Central high school, where he gained fame as a basketball and football player. He attended Michigan State Normal and earned three letters in football. He also played basketball there.

Smith was a football and track star in high school and later was a half-miler, representing Southwest Missouri Normal.

Head coach Dan Fisher and assistant coach Stan Broome have been mentors here for three and seven years respectively. Fisher graduated from Albion and later schooled the Albion high basketball, football, and baseball teams. Every team coached by Fisher won Albion a class B championship. Broome graduated from the University of Michigan and has coached at Central since then. His baseball nines won the Valley championship for six consecutive years, 1930 being the first time Central was forced to bow to any contenders.

Football Summary

STOPPING Pontiac's march toward the state championship was the outstanding achievement of the 1930 grid team. The Chiefs, after an undefeated record of six starts, played before a record crowd here and, after taking a 15 to 0 lead at the half, saw the Central Indians hammer their line to shreds to tie the score at 21.

The Indians closed the season with four victories, two defeats and two ties. M. S. D., St. Michael, Saginaw and Detroit Northern were the teams conquered. Saginaw Arthur Hill was held to a tie and Flint Northern and Bay City were the only teams able to defeat Coach Dan Fisher's proteges.

The Season

CENTRAL (13) M. S. D. (0)

Prospects of a powerful line were uncovered in Central's first clash with M. S. D., which the tribe won, 13 to 0. Tom Stewart, guard, Les Schmier, and Ken Morton, tackles, stood out as a nucleus for a good line. Harold Harper's brilliant running was a great aid to the team.

CENTRAL (58) ST. MICHAEL (0)

With Captain Ray Vincent calling signals like a Rockne-coached general, Central walloped St. Mikes, 58 to 0. The Central captain found the Mikes' weakness on the first play of the game and he drove plays through there incessantly. Dick Evans' fine running and the line play also showed up very well.

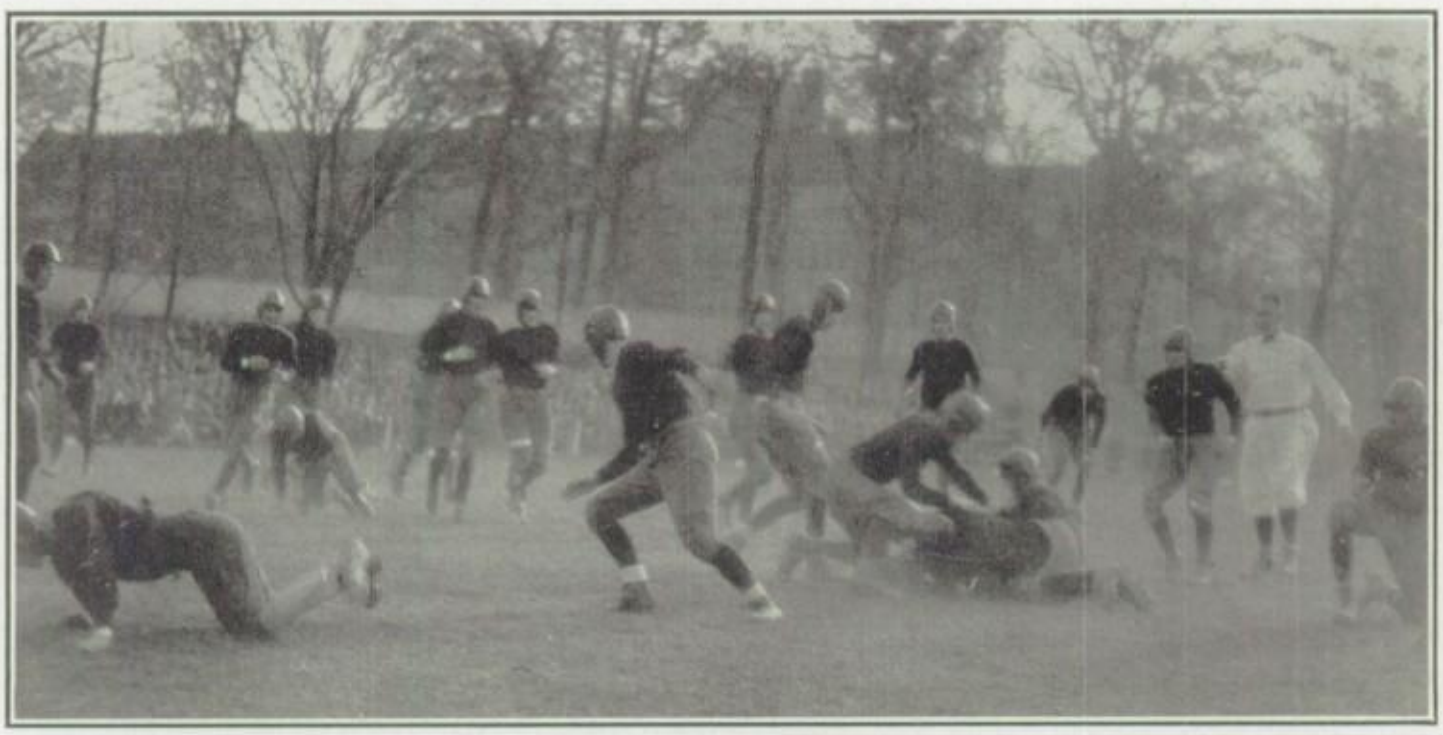
Second Half Triumphal March Over Chiefs

CENTRAL (19) DETROIT NORTHERN (0)

Central closed athletic relations with Detroit schools by defeating Detroit Northern 19 to 0. The Indians were slowed down by the poor condition of the Detroit field. John Best, left end, starred for the Redskins.

CENTRAL (0) SAGINAW ARTHUR HILL (0)

Inability to cash in on excellent scoring chances cost the Indians a victory at Arthur Hill's expense. Central was within the Saginaw 25-yard line three times during the game, but each time the Lumberjack line braced to prevent any significant gain. Arthur Hill in turn was unable to penetrate the Red-Black wall.



Berger Breaks Through Chief's Line For Gain

Berger Scores On Brilliant Line Play

CENTRAL (20) SAGINAW EASTERN (7)

Spurred on by Captain Ray Vincent and Ray Patterson, the Tribe won their first Saginaw Valley conflict. The two halfbacks played sparkling defensive games, smearing Pandell and Fager, Trojan speed merchants, before they could get under way. The line also played well, opening up holes repeatedly for Spen Berger to go through. Pendell scored Saginaw's only touchdown, returning a punt 43 yards after his team had twice been stopped.

CENTRAL (21) PONTIAC (21)

Central reached its greatest heights against Pontiac, tying the Chiefs, 21 to 21. Pontiac had won six straight games before coming to Flint, and were considered the leading contender for state championship honors. The Indians spotted Pontiac a 15 point advantage at the half and then came back with a whirlwind finish, with the line and Spen Berger featuring the attack.

CENTRAL (7) BAY CITY (10)

Central's undefeated record went by the board when Bay City sprang a surprise to gain a 10 to 7 victory. The Indians more than doubled the Wolves in gaining first downs but the absence of Captain Vincent, who was out with injuries, seemed to deter the team's play. Tom Stewart scored Central's only touchdown.

CENTRAL (0) NORTHERN (18)

The Wildanger trophy became a permanent Northern possession when Russ Reynolds, Frank Mitoraj and Joe Supak led the Eskimos to an 18 to 0 win. The Redskins took to the air early in the first quarter and reached the Northern two-yard line. The feature play of this attack was a triple pass, Young Patterson to Pupard. The attack fizzled when the Indians, after reaching the two-yard stripe, were handed a 15-yard penalty.

Every Central player who got into the game with the exception of Harper and Evans, played his last game. This list included Captain Ray Vincent, John Best, Herb Pupard, Ken Morton, Les Schmier, Tom Stewart, Don Crittenden, Garnet Williams, Chuck David, Ed Young and Spen Berger.

Basketball Summary

FLINT Central's hopes for a successful season on the basketball court next season are at present exceedingly bright. Of eight letter winners, only Ken Morton, Ray Patterson and Reed Goodall graduate. Coach Fisher will have co-captains elect Lewis Wilkins and Dick Evans, retiring captain Piazza and Jim Johnson and Gordon Yuille back. Piazza leaves in mid-year, however.

Throughout the past season, a weak defense handicapped the Indians. Ray Patterson's work was exceptionally good but he graduated in mid-season. Offensively, Central had the two best players in the Saginaw Valley, Evans and Piazza. Piazza's floor play was also good during the year.

The high spots of the season were the winning of the city championship series in two straight games. At the end of the season, Piazza and Evans were named on the all-Valley team.

The Season

CENTRAL (26) DETROIT EASTERN (15)

The Indians opened their 1930-31 season with a 26 to 15 victory over Detroit Eastern there. Evans led Central in scoring with 10 points while Captain Piazza displayed his customary steady floor game.

CENTRAL (20) ROYAL OAK (15)

Lewie Wilkins, lanky center, led the Tribe to a 20 to 15 decision over the Acorns. Wilkins netted seven points.

CENTRAL (22) ALUMNI (18)

The Redskin alumni fell in a surprising upset when Captain Piazza got away to tally eight points. R. Patterson's defensive play was another highlight.

PROSPECTUS

CENTRAL (14) SAGINAW (18)

Central was handed its first defeat of the season by Saginaw. R. Patterson bottled up Fager, Saginaw star, but the Indian offense could not get under way.

CENTRAL (28) BATTLE CREEK (37)

In a slam bang scoring contest, the Crickets took a 37 to 28 decision. Wilkins, Piazza and Evans led the Tribe offense.

CENTRAL (19) NORTHERN (16)

The Indians withstood a last period Northern assault to win the first game of the city championship series, 19 to 16. Patterson's guarding of Reynolds and Captain Piazza's offensive play were the bright spots in the victory.

CENTRAL (12) ARTHUR HILL (35)

Handicapped by the Hills' cracker-box gymnasium, the Indians received their worst defeat of the season, 35 to 12. Again Piazza's floor play was the only redeeming feature in Central's work.

CENTRAL (22) PONTIAC (40)

The Indians could not get going in the first half and Pontiac piled up a comfortable lead. Piazza led the scoring with 10 markers.

CENTRAL (15) BAY CITY (19)

Bay City's air-tight defense held Central at bay and the Wolves won a close contest. Evans played best for the losers.

CENTRAL (31) JACKSON (14)

The Redskins hit their peak offensively in this clash with Captain Piazza and Evans leading the way. It was the Indians first victory over the Vikings in four years.

CENTRAL (18) SAGINAW (23)

Central could find no one to stop Fager and Saginaw won, 23 to 18.

CENTRAL (18) SAGINAW (23)

The Trojans piled up an early lead and then went back to stalling. Central could not break the stall up and Saginaw won.

CENTRAL (32) ARTHUR HILL (23)

Captain Piazza, playing running guard, led the Indians to a revenge victory over the Hills. Piazza scored 14 points.

CENTRAL (19) NORTHERN (17)

Dick Evans' basket from mid-floor in the last 15 seconds of play gave the Indians the city championship. Evans led the Indians, scoring in this clash with nine markers.

CENTRAL (16) BAY CITY (19)

Again the Wolves' rugged defense stood them in good stead and Central was turned back. Points in this contest were evenly distributed.

REGIONAL TOURNAMENT

CENTRAL (22) SAGINAW (29)

Friday the thirteenth proved too much for Central and the Indians were eliminated in the second round after receiving a bye. Piazza played best offensively.

Varsity Wrestling

WRESTLING in Central High School assumed new high proportions this year with the advent of grappling as a varsity sport. The Indians, along with Saginaw and Fordson, were the first high schools in Michigan to participate in varsity grappling.

Larger crowds than ever before watched minor sports and saw the Tribe tie the Trojans and lose to Fordson. In a return match at Saginaw, the Redskins were defeated.

Four of the eight grapplers who were awarded letters will return next season. They are Leland LeBar, Bill Bellinger, Walt Connet, and Lynn Kirchner. Tom Stewart, Chuck David, Al Lintz, and Mike Yonan are the other letter winners.

The advent of this new sport has been commented upon favorably by Valley coaches and more teams are expected to follow this innovation next year.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

THE purpose of the Girls' Athletic Association is to provide a stimulus to girls' athletics, to encourage good sportsmanship and promote clean playing in all branches of sports. A belief that girls need a better understanding of athletics was the motive for organizing the club. The administration of the club is directed by an executive cabinet composed of outstanding members. This year the club sponsored a Play Day festival with girls from adjacent cities as their guests. The directing cabinet for this year is:

MARY ELLEN LINDSEY ..... President
DOROTHY SCHROEDER ..... Secretary
Ethel Papp, Mary Tracy, Marie Leukfehr, Lamond Forbes, Evelyn Griffin

GIRLS' HOCKEY

The two junior first teams tied for the school championship. In the play-off the junior red team won.

GIRLS' LIFE SAVING CORPS

The Girls' life saving corps is an organization of girls who have passed rigid swimming, diving and life saving examinations to the satisfaction of the regulations of the Red Cross lifesaving department. An exhibition was held before the M. E. A. by the Central Group.

Training girls to pass the rigid Red Cross life saving testss, the Central unit sponsored an exhibition before the Michigan Educational Association in which thirty-eight girls took part. The membership in this life savings corps is open only to girls of high scholastic ability who have passed the prescribed examinations with a rating of over ninety percent.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

The two junior basketball teams played off a tie in the regular series with a resulting victory for the Red group. The teams contested for an all school championship and played inter-school basketball with Northern.

The Senior girls were awarded the school basketball championship when they defeated the junior and sophomore squads for a record of six wins out of seven games of the season. The Junior Reds came second with a high average followed by the junior Blacks. The juniors were the only Central squad to defeat Northern in an inter-school series.

SWIMMING

With their leanest year in history behind them, Central's swimming team will face the 1931-32 season with a squad of experienced splashers. The Indian natators lost every meet they entered, but the season's encounters gave the lower-classmen recruits experience for the next year.

GYM

The most consistent winner which Central possesses, the gym team, again placed highly in state competition. The gymnasts won third honors in this contest besides breaking even Ray Hickok, high point man for the season.

Aside from entering inter-scholastic competition, the Redskins presented an act in the annual Kaleidoscope and gave several exhibitions.

TRACK

Central's track team met with mediocre success during both the indoor and outdoor seasons of 1931. The lack of veteran material considerably handicapped Coach Francis Smith.

Although no city title clash with Flint Northern was carded for the indoor schedule, the Vikings secured the edge on the Indians in a triangular meet with Ann Arbor.

CROSS COUNTRY

The main function of Central's cross country team this year was to develop a squad of veterans for next season. The Indians dropped both the regional and city title encounters to Flint Northern.

Les Dalby was Central's scoring ace for the season, leading the Red-Blacks in both the encounters.

1930 Baseball Team

Baseball

Hopes for regaining the Saginaw Valley baseball championship, a title which the Indians relinquished to Saginaw for the first time in eight years' play in 1930, appeared bright at the start of the season.

From last year's team, Coach Stan Broome retained Joe Piazza, star hurler, Ray Vincent, his veteran battery-mate, John Best, first-baseman, Reed Goodall, shortstop, Frank Marken, second-baseman and George Cranston and Al Lintz, outfielders.

Reserves who may break into the lineup are Ralph Boyer, Ken Morton, Wad Gilmore and Russ Gill. Besides these, several promising newcomers threatened to take berths on the team. These include James Johnson, Stewart Delauter and Paul Beaubien.

1930 Golf Team

GOLF

Prospects for a golf team of state championship calibre are exceedingly bright. Schlegelmilch, Ross, Parker, and Gallas of last year's team are returning supported by some promising youngsters including Dale Perry, a reserve on last year's squad. The team: Blom, Perry, Ross, Gallas, Schlegelmilch, Parker and Decker.

TENNIS

With four veteran netmen returning and a squad of thirty turning out for preliminary try-outs a promising season is seen by tennis coach Paul Sylvester. Notman, Elston, Nelson, and Kerns are the nucleus of letter men around which the team functioned. Bellinger, Whitehouse, Stonebreaker and Kearns comprise the team this year.

Halls of Song

By Vivienne Knight

In a grove of sylvan beauty midst the woods and murmuring stream
Central high was slowly fashioned, bringing true a city's dream.
To the workmen as they labored—came to each a noble thought—
"May each brick that builds this high school with sweet melody be frought."
Dreamy breezes softly whispering through the spring air soft and clear
Caught this silent thought of music; swiftly told all far and near.
Then the birds with lilting voices wove their songs into the walls
And the brook, the bees, and flowers, filled with harmony the halls.

Years have passed since Mother Nature with her gifts did gladly part
And the high school student body works and strives with all its heart.
For that ever-present promise that is king on every floor
Interwinds into the spirits of the pupils more and more.
But their work has ne'er been useless for their record's overrun
With the contests they have headed and the victories they have won.
With America's best choir, orchestra and high school band
They have made the name of Central famous all throughout the land.

Dates of an Indian Maid

SEPTEMBER:

3 Sept. 3rd and school today
Hello work and goodby play.

5 Our lockers, we receive today
In school it seems you pay and pay.
15 The 15th rolls around at last
With S. U. tickets selling fast.
19 Sept. 19th—what a haul
A snappy, peppy S. U. ball.
21 A little later duty calls
And campaign posters fill the hills.
25 The 25th—election day!
And every one has lots to say.
27 The 27th brings a game
With M. S. D. my but they're tame.

OCTOBER:

3 October comes—the days go fast
The student council meets at last.
Reports come home—oh what a jar!
Are teachers tyrants? Yes they are!
10 A new team name our students gave
"Indians" because they're brave.

11 And next we swamp a Detroit team
While Fisher smiles and students scream.
18 The 18th—Arthur Hill is fast
The score was nothing—all, at last.
24 The 24th and something new
The Sophomores stage a real debut.

NOVEMBER:

1 Nov. 1st a merry plight
Saginaw yields to "fight team, fight."
7 On Friday night what comes along?
A music banquet—smiles and song.
8 On the 8th we play another tie
With Pontiac—too bad—deep sigh.

13 The 13th—an unlucky day,
But the Kaleidoscope was good we'd say.
15 The 15th, Bay City game—defeat
10-7—Neithor short—nor sweet.
26 The 26th we celebrate
Tomorrow? That may be too late
27 The 27th—the big game too
We're cold and hungry—feeling blue!
28 The 28th—no school, What Ho!
Our spirits anything but low.

DECEMBER:

12 Senior-Junior annual dance
All right fellows—here's your chance!
13 Dec. 13th—Basketball,
And Detroit Northern takes a fall.
20 Today Royal Oak comes up to play
With a victory we crown the day.
23 No school today—the 23rd.
Vacation, what a welcome word!
31 New Years Eve—the great white way
We'll sleep all during New Year's Day.

JANUARY:

5 "And on the fifth, you shall return"
An order that we dare not spurn.
9 The bitter 9th we meet defeat
By Saginaw—too bad—no treat.
10 The 10th we play another game
With Battle Creek—results the same.

PROSPECTUS

16 With Northern at the I. M. A.
Our turn to cheer and win today.

20 On Tuesday night we prance and cheer
Cuz 'zams come round but once a year.

21 Another party Friday night
We dance until the broad daylight.

22 Our arguers with Northern fight
But lose, although we think they're right.

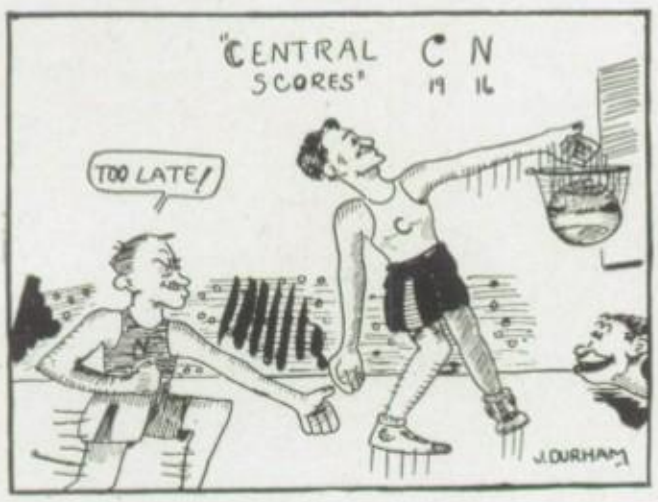
23 The 23rd and did we pass?
A brief vacation—days go fast.

26 A brand new term, dear Allah praise
We'll study hard and mend our ways.

FEBRUARY:

7 An S. U. party to start out right
We'll sing all day and dance all night.

12 Dramatic 12th—a matinee
Of a simply rippling Junior play.



27 With Northern High a game we played
We fought like blank a score we made.

MARCH:

19-20 The opera today, what ho! What Ho!
The Gondoliers a dandy show!

APRIL:

2 At Easter time 2 days vacation
For parties, church and recreation.

6 We go to school on Monday morn.
And books and lessons duly scorn.

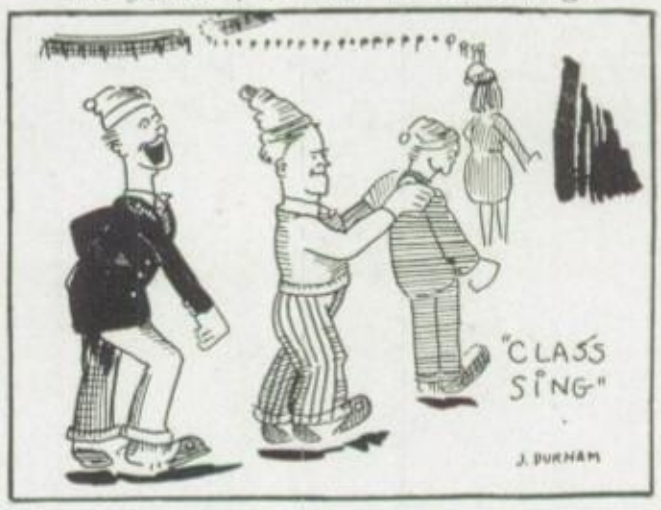
9 The master minds of Central High
Get honor cards—they passed me by.

10. A party gay for old alums
A goodly crowd—cuz each one comes.

17 This bright spring day the lesson stops
We're entertained by Televox.
And a sophomore party comes at night
They sure know how to throw them right.

MAY:

1 A party gay to greet the spring
The Juniors, Seniors in full swing!



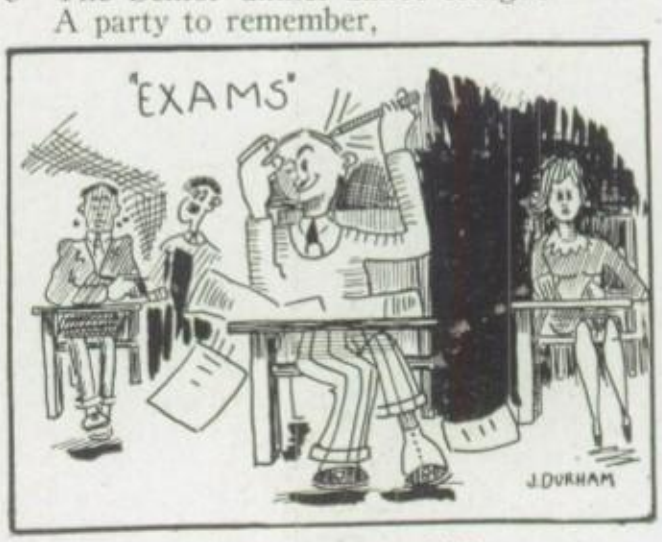
15 The Mott Class Sing—We whoop and shout
The Queen is crowned while cheers ring out.

21-22 The seniors play upon the stage
A mystery play, with wit and sage.

JUNE:

4 The fourth—our joy has nearly wrecked us
For Central gets a fine Prospectus.

5 The Senior dinner-dance tonight
A party to remember,



Exams today—a pretty plight
And first aid we must render.

7 We go to church in cap and gown
Walk down the aisle with great renown.

8 Class night, with Northern we are friends,
For once, for all—till summer ends.

11 The seniors leave mid cheers and tears
To look back on their high school years.

* * *

And leaving school we turn to play
A summer full of fun
And in the fall we're heard to say
Our fun had just begun!

Personality

"GOOD Evening, Everybody! This is Central's annual broadcast of the preview of the drama 'All School Activities.' Boy, what a crowd out here in front of the theatre. Here comes Mary Tracy all in blue satin, on the arm of Dick Evans, undisputed Don Juan of this great Institution of Learning (deep chuckle). We'll see if we can get little Miss Tracy to say a few words. .....That was Mary Tracy telling the world all about it, folks. Mary Tracy, Central's own little sweetheart, is pretty bashful, and so they're gone on.

"Here comes Bethany Warren, beautiful sub-deb, and popular co-ed getting out of Berger's car! They're ducking the photographer's aim. 'Unusual for Spen, at that.'

"Well, well, if it isn't Virginia Beagle and big Tom McGee. Here comes Virginia Jennings and Don Decker in his new Austin. My, my, my! Virginia sure is a sight for sore eyes! Dressed in green chiffon and with a corsage of orchids almost as large as she is. Maybe they'll give us a break and say Howdy! 'Sno use, folks, Virginia can't reach the microphone and there aren't any soap boxes handy, and Don has such a lame back from riding in that Austin that he can't bend over.

"Just a few more stragglers coming now. Maxine Martin and Perky, good ole' Perky! Mary Kapp, and Ray Brady, Maxine Wigle and Charles Schofield and—Oh! there goes the opening number and we'll turn the mike over to our announcer, who is in the front box, and let him give you the rest of the dope on this party."

"Evening, folks! Here we go from the inside of the auditorium where everything is just a glare of light. Central's orchestra is playing the good ole' victory song, and everybody is raring to go when the curtain goes up.

"There's Blanche Wethereld down there with Gordon Glover, and a couple of goooo-O-od looking blondes, and over there in another box are Bernice Wetherald, Ray Finlay, Jim Parker, and Marge Albrecht.

"Up goes the curtain and here comes the ballet. Whoops! The crowd's going crazy —folks, crazy! That dance of Bethany Thomas' was a wow. Mary Tracy and Young Evans are busy eating peanuts. Boy, what a peppy chorus of stepping beauties. Jack Whitehouse, in the first row, is going mad.

PROSPECTUS

Pre-Views

"Well, this is intermission and here comes Arlene Coughtry and Al Sackerman down the aisle in a big rush. Late as usual! There is a slight disturbance over in the corner. Just a minute, and I'll tell you what it is. Oh! Oh! It's nothing much! Opal McCredie just found out that Bob was going to the next party with some girl from the south and she is expressing her honest opinion of him.

"Edith Millhouse is coming in with Ada Winslow. Paul Schagane and his brother Irving Benison just got ousted for trying to get backstage. Here comes Sarah Esther Pollock and Fred Pond. Whoops—there goes Fred's top hat—and he steps on Sarah's dress in an attempt to recover—What a mess!

"Scotty McNevin is sneaking past the usher. Oh! Oh! He sees her and it is just too bad; No! No! She's rolling those big blue eyes and he's escorting her to a box. Who is that usher, let's see. Oh! Oh! It's James L. Duke, the woman hater. Think of it. Oh—yeah, here comes Nancy Scott and that cute Cliff Dumanoix.

"Well, there goes the curtain for the second act. They're holding the curtain for some big shot who evidently planned to come in late and create a sensation. Who is it but Wesley Pierce and his little sweetie, Ann Ehrenfeld?

"The choir is now on the scene; the music is truly beautiful. We'll switch you to the stage microphone so you can hear this wonderful selection.....Here we are back to the box, folks; the next number on the program is the noon hour dance orchestra, and Russel Winninger doing one of those snappy dances—Oh, boy, what a peppy stepper. There's a real little lady for you. The orchestra winds up playing "Sleep," but in spite of excellent advice the majority of the crowd are filing out with intentions of a big dance and waffle party at the Atwood mansion. Here comes Bill Knapp and Marjorie Moffet, just arriving as the show ends.

Boy, what a show and what an evening—beautiful music, fine programs, and a mighty nice ballet chorus.

"And so, folks, this is Graham Cracker, signing off and turning you back to your local station after a broadcast of this Flint Central high frolic—Good Night, Folks.....

"This is station FCHS signing off for the night at 12:45 A. M. G'Nite everybody."

Anthology of 1931

The following poems which comprise this anthology are representative creations of the several columnists and feature writers of the Central publications department.

SPRING
RUSSELLE WININGER

The great Almighty seems perplexed as whether
Spring should help or hinder earth's mankind
For when the first of Nature's hands unbind
The fetters of this glorious balmy weather;
Just when the bloom of dawn breaks on the heather
A maladie of some queer sort—a kind
Of sleep-like wakefulness, I find
Has seized me. Like him, that lazy, drunken jester,
My brain will cuddle every useless thought
And send away abruptly one of worth,
Both brains and feet forget all they were taught
In winter day. But life is naught but mirth
When strife is gone and grief's a sorry thing.
Let man's good humor reign when it is spring.

VICTORY
RUTH M. COPEMAN

There was a school named Northern
In the topmost part of town.
Their heads were blown up something fierce
Till Central took 'em down.
"We're going hunting," so they said,
"A bloody game we'll play
And we'll return with Central's head;
Just watch our winning way."
They thought they'd win without a fight
And with us mop the floor,
They all recalled Thanksgiving Day—
They'd done it once before.
And so they planned what they would do;
'Twas whispered through the city
The way poor Central's team would fare
Was something of a pity!
They played a goodly game and true,
The rough old Northern way,
But when the score was evened up
Our forward won the day!
He shot the ball from center floor,
While all the people shook,
And later said to M. B. C.
"Just like a story book."

TO THALIA
GRACE MCINTYRE

Oh, Thalia, oh, gracious muse of rhyme
To thee my prayer and praise I do address.
Thou kind and soothing minister of time,
When on my heart my troubles do oppress.
Oh, Thalia, to thee I bring my plea—
Bestow on me the secret of thy art
And what is more, do thou give unto me
To understand thy art, an open heart.
Oh, Thalia, pray open up my eyes
That I may see the beauty of the earth,
The flowers that bloom, the glory of the skies,
The cleansing rain, the laughing brooklet's mirth.
Oh, thus do I contritely beg thy aid;
With praising poetry thou shalt be paid.

AUTUMN
VIVIENNE KNIGHT

The poet may find beauty
In Autumn colors bold;
The artist may be petrified
By sight of red and gold;
Musicians wail the coming snow,
Rejoice the summers gone—
But, boy, they'd grumble just like me
If they had to rake the lawn.

TO A FEATURE WRITER
RUTH M. COPEMAN

I want a poem for this column of mine
By the end of the hour. It must be on time!
So you make a wry face, and start dreaming a dream
But ideas are few, and you can't get a theme;
So you sit in a trance for at least half an hour
Your humor is stale, and your technique is sour.
By the end of the hour, you hang on the hook
A queer work of art, with woebegone look.
But the editors like it, they laugh loud and long,
You emerge from the place, with a smile and a song.
Your position's secure! Seems too good to be true—
'Till the following Thursday, when features are due.

IN THE SPRING A GIRL'S FANCY, TOO—

BEATRICE BROOKS

The moon, tonight
Is clear and bright,
The wind is soft,
Refreshing—
The twinkling stars,
Wink e'er at Mars,
And scorn the Earth
Progressing—
From slender throats
Come silvery notes
Of nightingale's
Sweet blessing—
A lover's moon,
Stars, lilting tune,
A youth and maid
Caressing—.

APRIL SCENES

GRACE MCINTYRE

Far off across a forest of roofs
And through a tangle of trees
I see two children on the hill
Their cloaks blown by the wind.
A woman calls,
They disappear,
And leave a forest of roofs—
And a tangle of trees, to me.

HERO WORSHIP

RUTH M. COPEMAN

The ladies smile, the teachers beam,
The fellows call him "Buddy."
He's cheered by throngs, they sing his praise,
His clothes are torn and muddy.
His cheery smile and winning way—
A prince fit for a queen;
But he's no foreign monarch—
Just the fullback of our team.

ELECTION DAYS

VIVIENNE KNIGHT

Election days are over
And with a happy sigh
We settle into routine
To watch the time go by.
The halls once more are tidy,
No posters strew the wall,
The officers are safe in place
Until the coming fall.
But though we all are weary
We see where'er we go
Signs that shout us orders
To vote for so and so.
And so we feel the thrill of peace
To know we will not hear
Those candidates entreating us—
Until another year.

IF I WERE A TEACHER

VIVIENNE KNIGHT

If I were a teacher, gray headed and old,
And all of my students were worth tons of gold,
I'd give them all lessons of ice-cream and pie
And tell them ghost stories to make the girls cry.
I'd never be angry, but smile and be sweet,
I'd break all the rules, for I'd never beat
My pupils if they didn't do what I say—
I'd let them be happy and play all the day.

IN DEFENSE OF CARL SANDBURG

GLADYS PERKINS

How dares the plebeian lot
To scorn the realist?
No "honey dripping" phrases his,
To while away the time.
But life—true life—
Is singing in his lines.
Singing? Can one sing of sorrow?
Pain? Adversity?
Ah! Yes! Here lies true poesy—
To sing of human feeling,
Make them felt again,
And pulse with living blood.

MOTHER

VIVIENNE KNIGHT

If all the jewels of the earth
Were at my beck and call,
I'd choose a large and creamy pearl,
The loveliest of all
And give it to my mother.
If all the flowers of the world
Should blossom at my hand
I'd choose a lily straight and tall,
The purest in the land—
And give it to my mother.
If all the birds who sing so sweet
Should flutter just above,
I'd choose the one most blessed by God,
A little snow-white dove—
And give it to my mother.
But not the pearl, the lily pure,
The little snow-white dove
Have I, so I will take
My own undying love—
And give it to my mother.

THE RUSH

VIVIENNE KNIGHT

He hurries home from a football game
And bolts a bite to eat;
He changes clothes, and scrubs and shaves
Gets ready for a treat.
He jumps aboard a moving car
And rushes to the school—
He joins the stagline at the dance
And calls himself a fool.

PROSPECTUS

'Sall over now. Moonlight nights, canoes, swimming, riding, baseball, tennis, golf are here—no time for work. School's out! But it was fun while it lasted. Some of the old gang are gone for good—don't see how the school can be the same again without some of us seniors. Classes have been saying that about Central for some forty years though and the place has been getting better every semester.

Really, though, seniors are not quite so sorry to leave their old Alma Mater as they're cracked up to be. Still it's pretty hard to think of Jimmie Parker without Ruth Mary Copeman and Murphy's. We can't feel that there's any justice in taking away Ray Brady from his perpetual biology classes, separating Mike Sharp from his Betty, cutting Vincent off from his Soph. sweeties. Wonder how Bethany Thomas, Mary Kapp, little Bethany Warren and all the other sweet soph girls are going to make out without their big moments? A depression is before us.

All in all it's been a pretty good year, though. 'Course Northern did happen to win the football title—but then I guess we sorta licked those Vikings in basketball with our "Dick" and "Joe." Really I felt so sorry for Northern that I gave "Don," my Eskimo weakness, two dates to try and make up for it. Poor kid, he sure felt tough. Then of course our band sort of pulled the wool over their eyes and the baseball team—well I guess Central isn't such a bad place by a long shot.

The big thrill, though, was the dinner-dance. Baby, what a party that turned out to be, and on top of those finals at the end of the third quarter followed by one swell class sing. Still think they made a mistake by not having yours truly for queen. Really, how's a poor senior goin' to know which end she's on (this one knows, some big sheik dinner-danced all over her slippers with her inside). Gee, though, some people sure look like baby blimps in a cap and gown. Wonder if it's a disgrace to tremble when you get your diploma?

Speaking of etiquette, will someone ask Mary Tracy what one does with the first date when another walks in?. Well, it's done—we've flown the coop for good, graduated to higher fields, as they tried to tell us in a couple of high tone speeches.—So, all's well that ends well—but there's something fishy about getting through English Lit without another exam—an invitation to leave, I guess. So—

Freeman's

When you buy by name you get just what the name stands for.

That's why so many Flint people use Freeman's milk, ice cream and other dairy products.

That's why so many Flint people do not merely ask for milk or ice cream but demand FREEMAN'S.

Freeman's protected purity milk has earned its popularity by 18 years of faithful service.

"Are you a surgeon?" cried the young lady, rushing into a drug store.

"Naw," replied the youth behind the white counter, "I'm just the fizzician."

"I can't find my panther," wailed the trainer.

"Never mind your clothes," bawled the manager, "get on the stage."
